

Michael Atleson

Michael Atleson is a Senior Staff Attorney who has held several management and staff positions in the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection since joining the agency in 2006.

Biography

Currently in the Division of Advertising Practices, he focuses mostly on AI and online reviews, engaging in enforcement, policy, and educational work. He authored a 2022 report to Congress on the use of AI to combat online harms and the award-winning "AI and Your Business" blog post series. He is a graduate of Wesleyan University and NYU School of Law.